

Script for Episode 2

Gomez - Today, we're exploring two powerful presentation tools: Canva and PowerPoint. One shines with modern simplicity and social media integration

Telebangco - while the other dominates with advanced customization and dynamic animations. Let's dive in!

Gomez - Social media marketer, loves quick design tools.

Telebangco - Corporate trainer, prefers advanced presentation features.

Gomez - Dan, I just whipped up a campaign post in Canva, it took me less than 10 minutes!

Telebangco - Really? I usually spend hours fine tuning my PowerPoint slides. What makes Canva so fast?

Gomez - Well, Canva has modern templates over 12,000 social graphic options. I can drag and drop graphics, change colors, and it looks professional instantly. Plus, I can publish directly to Instagram or LinkedIn without leaving the app.

Telebangco - Steve, show us one!

//Making Canva templates

Gomez - Here's a sleek template. I just swap the text, add a logo, and boom it's ready to post

Telebangco - Impressive, but PowerPoint shines in advanced customization. I can control every font, layout, and chart. And the animations entrance, emphasis, exit effects make data come alive, and can make games.

Gomez - Lets test it, Dan! Can you make a game for us?

//Making a powerpoint game

Telebangco - Sure! Watch me as I demonstrate this Powerpoint game

Gomez - So Canva is perfect for fast, stylish social media content

Telebangco - And Powerpoint is ideal for complex, professional presentations with dynamic effects

Gomez - Looks like both tools have their place Canva for digital sharing, PowerPoint for live presenting

Telebangco - Exactly. The real skill is knowing which tool fits your project.
